

STUART CABINETS

Broadly speaking, there are 3 types of cabinets; stock, semi-custom and [full] custom. Stock cabinets are the most economical, and are typically used by builders. Semi-custom cabinets have more variety in styles and finishes, but are somewhat more expensive. Custom cabinets can be made in almost any style or finish, and are priced accordingly.

Our all wood cabinets have been made for us by the same manufacturer for almost 20 years, and are available both as semi-custom and custom. For a cost effective design, we often specify semi-custom cabinets for most of a project, then a few custom pieces to complete the project. This "mixing and matching" can be done because most of the Stuart cabinet doors are interchangeable.

Choosing the right cabinet door is critical to a design's success. Shown below are various door styles, along with information about wood species and finishes. Browse through the doors, then give us a call to get started on your project.

ALL WOODS ARE AVAILABLE IN A NATURAL FINISH. UNDER EACH OF THE ABOVE STAINS IS A LIST OF THE WOODS TO WHICH A STAIN CAN BE APPLIED. THE WOODS ARE IDENTIFIED BY SHOWING THE FIRST LETTER OF THEIR NAMES – ALDER, WALNUT, CHERRY, MAPLE, PECAN, QUARTERSAWN WHITE OAK AND RED OAK. FOR EXAMPLE, UNDER HONEY ARE THE LETTERS R/M/C/P/A/Q WHICH MEANS THE STAIN CAN BE APPLIED TO RED OAK, MAPLE, CHERRY, PECAN, ALDER AND QUARTERSAWN WHITE OAK.
